Intellectual Characteristics

Characteristic	General Description	A/S/N (Always / Sometimes / Never)	Example
Intense Intellectual Curiosity	Initiates, directs, and sustains individual or group behaviors in order to satisfy a need or attain an educational goal.
Problem-Solving Ability	Process of determining a correct sequence of alternatives leading to a desired goal or to successful completion of a performance or task. Can follow multiple-step instructions. When given a task to accomplish, demonstrates tenacity and will employ alternate strategies, if first strategy is unsuccessful. Effective, often inventive strategies for recognizing and solving problems.
Memory	Exceptional ability to retain and retrieve information. A large storehouse of information on school and/or non-school topics.
Inquiry	Asks questions. Seeks additional knowledge. Wants to know why something is the way it is. Goes beyond the required assignment to resolve any unanswered questions.
Reasoning	Logical approach to figuring out solutions. Highly conscientious, directed, controlled, active, intentional, forward-looking, and goal-oriented thought.
Imagination and Creativity	Ability to generate highly original ideas. Produces many ideas. Process of forming mental images of objects, qualities, situations, or relationships which are not immediately apparent to the senses. Problem solving through non-traditional patterns of thinking.

Performance Characteristics

Characteristic	General Description	A/S/N (Always/ Sometimes / Never)	Example
Commitment to Superior Achievement	Is motivated by the personal satisfaction derived from having done a superior job on tests. Takes personal pride in performing at a high level. Prioritizes academic achievement above other interests. Upset when commitments/activities (even ones he/she enjoys) interfere with ability to do his/her best at school.
Organizational Maturity	Comes to class prepared with books, assignments, etc. Knows when tests are and has prepared for them. Keeps a calendar or organizational binder to plot out long-term assignments. Helps group work stay on track.
Perfectionism	Is a high achiever. Exhibits high personal standards. May set unrealistic expectations. May demonstrate persistence, perseverance, and enthusiastic devotion to work.
Pace	Absorbs information more rapidly than others. Frequently one step ahead of the flow of an average-paced lesson. Seeks other intellectual stimulation if pacing is too slow (ex.: will read a book and attend to a lesson at the same time).
Emotional Maturity	Has the ability to concentrate deeply for prolonged periods. Provides very alert, rapid answers to questions. Needs little outside control – applies self-discipline. Has a liking for structure, order, and consistency. Focuses on learning when in class.
